

AviComp Controls GmbH is a medium-sized engineering company from Leipzig with further locations in Europe and Asia. Thanks to the experience gained from more than 1,500 completed projects in various industries and due to extensive certifications, the company is one of the leading providers for control and automation technology as well as in the field of digitization.

To strengthen our team and to address our diverse tasks we are seeking you as

Sales Engineer (m/f/d)

The tasks include in particular:

- active customer care and support as well as targeted expansion of our customer base
- negotiation of offers
- tracking of projects and offers
- observation of the market development and competitive situation
- gaining new business relationships
- realization of strategic targets and operating activities
- first contact for clients regarding technical and commercial queries

Our requirements:

- academic degree in industrial engineering, electrical engineering or comparable
- very good knowledge of German and English
- very good communication skills
- time management
- team spirit, diplomatic skills and self-confidence

We offer:

- an interesting area of responsibility
- an international team and strong team spirit
- wide range of training courses and a very good induction plan
- flexible working hours and home office
- height-adjustable work station
- JobTicket with a subsidy of EUR 50.00 per month or a fuel card
- company pension scheme with an AG share of 120% or 127,00 EUR
- JobRad
- corporate sports and corporate events

Interested in joining our team? We are looking forward to receiving your complete application.

Uta Kersten

email: hrm@avicomp.com

We are looking forward to meet you.